

SUGANI

RACK RATES 2026

Sungani was born from a deep-rooted passion for Africa - a commitment that runs through the heart of our family. Each of us brings unique skills and perspectives to this project, making it a true family endeavour.

We recognised a growing shift in travel: a move away from superficial luxury toward deeper connections and meaningful experiences. It was this desire for authenticity and transformation that inspired us to take on one of the most remote and challenging areas of the South Luangwa.

Our vision was to create a place where guests could experience classic, understated luxury, where richness is not found in excess, but in nature, solitude, and connection.

Thanks to our year-round presence and the development of vital infrastructure, including an extensive road network, this once-inaccessible region has become a place of renewal.

Wildlife populations rebounding, and local communities are thriving through employment, training, and long-term opportunities. We are proud that 85% of our team has been with us since the beginning, a powerful testament to the sustainability of our mission.

Operating seasonally has only deepened our commitment to the land. We take responsibility for its care, maintaining our road systems, supporting anti-poaching efforts and safeguarding these wild spaces for future generations.

Together with our dedicated Zambian team, we stand as a united family bound by a shared mission. Sungani Lodge and Kulandila Camp are more than just destinations, they are a reflection of our commitment to conservation, community, and the future of meaningful travel.

To our supporters and guests, thank you. Your belief in our vision fuels our purpose. With every visit, you become part of this journey, helping us protect this extraordinary wilderness for generations to come.

Warm regards,

Lynne Davy (CEO and Mum)
